Special Grand Jury to convene Monday

BY DENA BISNETTE

A special Grand Jury will convene Monday in Hancock County.

According to Circuit Clerk Pamela Metzler, Judge James Thomas has extended the September term of Circuit Court through Oct. 22 to accommodate the special Grand Jury.

She said Circuit Judge Kosta Vlahos has already issued court orders dismissing the July Grand Jury and directing her to call the special Grand Jury.

Metzler said 100 summonses for jurors were issued on Monday, just one working day after the regular court term ended.

According to the clerk, that special Grand Jury may have to be in session for several weeks.

"We've had no cases presented since the January Grand Jury," Metzler said. "That's nine months' worth of the indictments that need to be redone."

"We're going to be incredibly busy with this, absentee voting and the election. We have the regular term beginning Nov. 14 and the last week of November and the first week of December Judge Thomas will be here to try a big civil case."

According to Assistant District Attorney DeWitt Allred, the special Grand Jury session should last at least two weeks including the time needed to redo the old indictments.

He said new cases to be presented include 49 defendants. The old cases that will have to be presented for reindictment involve 17 defendants, but many were multiple indictments because some of the defendants had more than one charge against them.

The reindictments are necessary because earlier this month Thomas ordered that the indictments handed down by the January Grand Jury be quashed on the grounds that the jurors were not properly recessed, recalled and dismissed. The July Grand Jury handed down no indictments.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said he feels that the Special Grand Jury will help local law enforcement authorities catch up.

"I think we'll be in a situation where everyone who should be indicted will be indicted," Peterson said.

Court opens at 9:30 a.m.

Hancock petition opposes new county school site

BY D.C. HARVILL

J.C. Seal doesn't think the risk factor involved in having Hancock County's proposed new high school adjacent to Stennis International Airport is worth the lives of children, including his 18 grandchildren. So, he has initiated a petition in an attempt to have the school built at another site.

"I know it's not a safe place for kids to go to school. It would only take one mishap. The chances of a mishap over a 60-year period (the expected life of the school) are very great," Seal said.

"Do you know how many drug busts have been made at that airport? All it would take would be one drug smuggler with a machinegun to take all those kids hostage," he proposed.

Georgia Haas of Post 58 Volunteer Fire Department at Standard said, "There couldn't be any worse place for a school, outside the gates of Borg-Warner or Dupont. If the people of the county had been asked where to put the school, it would never have been put at the airport."

In addition to the safety factor, Seal claims the noise generated by planes, operations, in the industrial park, and trucks serving the park will hinder education.

The petition, which Seal claims now contains 4,236 names, is responsible for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce last week joining the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and the Board of Supervisors in opposition to the school's Stennis location, according to Chamber President Rick Eagan.

The chamber voiced its opposition to the school's site because it feels having the school next to the airport will hamper industrial development at the airpark and economic growth of the county.

Eagan said last week, "We want to see things grow in the county. We aren't saying we shouldn't have a new school; we are just saying we don't think that site is conducive to good education."

"It is unbelievable that they would even think of building a school there. I know that place has flooded at least twice," Seal states.

County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph countered that work has already begun on the airport site and it is too late to change the location.

Seal thinks it is not too late and is encouraged by a letter he received from the State Board of Education's Bureau of Administration and Finance in response to a meeting he had with them in September.

A crucial part of the letter reads, "Since our meeting with you on Sept. 2, members of our staff revisited the approved site and had discussions with people knowledgeable in the areas in which you expressed concern. We are not debating the fact that possibly a more appropriate site could be found."

"It is not the State Department of Education's role, however, to locate an appropriate site, but rather to approve the site selected by the local school board. We have attempted to address the issues of safety, flooding and industrial development and find no particular reason why the approved site

Waveland to seek emergency funding to add more sewerage

BY DENA BISNETTE

The City of Waveland is looking into the possibility of obtaining emergency funds to extend its sewerage system.

On Tuesday, the board of aldermen opened and took under advisement several bids for renovation of gas lines in various parts of the city, a project funded with $300,000 in emergency grant funds for which no matching funds are required.

Later in the meeting, when three residents of an area off Waveland Avenue appeared to complain about lack of sewerage, something one of them said led to the idea of trying to get the same kind of funding for sewerage.

One of them called the lack of sewerage in an area where septic tanks will not function properly "a health hazard."

Ray Eaton, a consultant who prepares the city's grant and loan applications, heard the description and asked for the board authorization to find out if any more emergency money is available.

He received the board's unanimous consent, then asked the three residents to explain the health threat in letter's that can be forwarded to the Governor's Office of State and Federal Programs with any grant application resulting from his inquiry.

"It was the health-threat situation that got us the 100 percent money for the gasoline renovation," Eaton said.

The city has already applied for Farmer's Home Administration Loan funds for the project but was turned down last year, Mayor John Longo Jr. said. The city will be notified within 60 to 90 days regarding whether Waveland has been selected for the funds.

Eaton said that he had been notified of the availability of more loan money Tuesday, but did not know yet how much would be allocated.

"The last few years, the big wastewater districts have gotten it all," he said. "The money for cities like Waveland has not been available lately."

"The majority of cities are sewered. We realize that we have some areas that are not, but we're doing what we can to correct it," Longo said. "We have to be able to pay for what we do."

While most of the problem with the lack of sewerage is in the section of the city added in Waveland's last expansion,

Teen arrested for gym fire

BY D.C. HARVILL

A teenage male has been apprehended by Bay St. Louis Police in connection with a September 7 fire that destroyed the old St. Joseph's Gym in Bay St. Louis.

The 17-year-old Pass Christian youth was arrested Wednesday on a petition from the juvenile court and at press time was being interviewed by Bay Police about his involvement in the fire. He is being held awaiting an appearance before a juvenile court judge.

"Based on the information we have now, we have reason to believe his reason for being in the gym was to conduct some kind of silly Satanic ritual," Police Chief Ray Murphy said.

All indications at this time are that it is just a group of children conducting the rituals and that there is not a Satanic ring operating in the area, Murphy said.

Wednesday's arrest was made as a result arrests made last week in which two more youths picked-up in connection with vandalism, involving Satanic symbols, of an abandoned building, according to Murphy.

The case is still under investigation.

Pass man killed in one-car crash

BY DENA BISNETTE
 A one-vehicle accident has resulted in the death of a Pass Christian man.

Hancock County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet said Gregory Labat, 32, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident at about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Stiglet said the death resulted from head injuries

Labat suffered when his car went off US-90 near Pearlman and collided with a tree.

A Highway Patrol spokesman said the top of the car was cut off by one of the tree branches.

The cause of the accident is still under investigation, but the spokesman said it is possible that the driver fell asleep at the wheel.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

High school football continues Friday night with two homecoming games.

The Hawks will celebrate homecoming by hosting the Martin Yellow Jackets. Hancock is undefeated this season after having a close call last week in a come from behind three point victory over St. Stanislaus.

The game between Hancock and the Rock-A-Chaws drew good fan support and was action packed from the kick-off until the final whistle.

Local fans have talked about the game all week, supporters of both schools, as it was probably one of the best high school games witnessed in the area in many years. North Central will have to be on their toes on Friday as the Yellow Jackets would like to break the Hawks winning streak. The Rock-A-Chaws will host Poplarville on Friday night at Stanislaus stadium.

St. Stanislaus has an impressive 2-2 record this season and could have a 4-0 record with just a couple of breaks in the two close losses.

If the Rocks play the same type of game as they did against Hancock in the Poplarville game, they should be 3-2 for the season after Friday night.

The Tigers of Bay High will celebrate homecoming by hosting the Long Beach Bearcats.

The rebuilding Tigers appear to be having problems this year and could start turning things around with a good showing against Long Beach.

This has not been one of the better seasons for Long Beach, but, the Tigers better not take them too lightly. Pass Christian's Pirates will journey to East Central on Friday.

The Pirates will have their work cut out for them as East Central appears to really be rolling this season. A few bounces Pass Christian's way could possibly change the games final score.

We hope all local high football supporters will be in the stands Friday night cheering their favorite team to victory.

See you at the games.

These crisp mornings make us begin thinking about winterwear, as it will not be long before frost begins to appear.

Of course we have seen our area go frostless until late December several times.

I have noticed the grey squirrels about town very busy gathering their winter food supply.

One of the reasons we have so many oak and pecan trees in our area is because of the number of acorns and pecans buried by squirrels.

I know my pecan trees do not have any nuts this year, so it appears neighborhood squirrels will have to do with acorns this season.

Congratulations to Brett Favre on breaking the all-time passing for touchdowns record for the University for Southern Mississippi last Saturday.

Brett is only a sophomore, and we know his parents are really proud of him, as his high school coach was his father Irvin Favre at Hancock North Central.

We know there are many Golden Eagle fans in the area and they too want Brett to continue setting records.

At Hancock North Central Brett was a good passer and it seems his talents are improving each week.

We will continue watching Brett's progress at USM.

Rutherford announces Red Cross blood drawing

To the Editor:

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis on Wednesday, Oct. 12 from 2-8 p.m. Our quota for this blood drawing is 100 units.

We know you are aware of the importance to the life and health of our community to have blood available at all times, and that to do this we need your help.

Will you please assist by requesting your members and employees, members of their families and friends who are physically able and 17 years old or older to come on Wednesday and donate a unit of blood.

Please read this at your next meeting, post on your bulletin board, or publish in any bulletin before the blood drawing and make a personal appeal for this particular drawing.

Your assistance in any way to make this a successful and productive drawing will not only be appreciated, but is essential to those who will need this blood.

Bay resident supports lottery

Dear Editor:

I was very impressed with Bill Rutherford's support of the lottery. I am tired of all the people who are against the lottery which would give our community and schools a way to pay for the things they need.

We're not living in the 1800's, true, but some of the laws are so far behind it's sickening. Let the people vote on something for a change. The rich are getting richer and the poor and middle class are getting ripped off and poorer.

Let's move ahead and cut the people's cost with a lottery to pay the bills.

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

If the election were held today, about 66 percent of all Mississippians would vote "yes" for the unit system of government, according to a Mississippi State University poll issued this week.

Clearly, a huge majority of citizens understand that the unit system of government is a giant step toward honest and effective county government.

We must now carry that message to the polls on Nov. 8. That is the day citizens can assure that their county remains under the unit system by voting "yes."

The MSU poll makes a very important point clear: Voters in rural and urban areas alike overwhelmingly support the unit system.

Mississippi poll director Stephen D. Shaffer of MSU's Social Science Research Center said, "There was widespread support for the unit system throughout the state. I believe more and more voters are seeing it as a way of helping the state to move ahead in a coordinated fashion in attracting new industry."

Some opponents of the unit system issue have waged a fierce battle to defeat it. They are trying to mislead voters into thinking the unit system will be costly.

But the MSU poll indicates that voters understand a basic truth: The unit system saves money and helps stop corruption.

"A major reason that so many people support the unit system, I believe, is that they view it as a good government measure that will make county government more efficient and ultimately save tax dollars," Shaffer said.

Citizens are fed up with the indictment and conviction of public officials, and that is a major reason for the enormous public support of the unit system, Shaffer said.

"Fifty-four percent of state voters felt that they could trust public officials in the state to do what is right only some of the time or rarely," according to Shaffer.

That is a shame, and that is why we must approve the unit system on Nov. 8. Let us remove the cloud of doubt that hangs over too many of our counties.

Many Mississippi counties have gone to the unit system, and they ought to be congratulated for taking that bold step.

Counties play a key role in how Mississippi improves in the future. They play an important part in economic development, and the delivery of services vital to the health and welfare of Mississippians.

Yet, the executive director of the National Association of Counties said that counties under the beat system were "totally inadequate to deal with what's happening and going to happen to county government."

You, the voters, have the final say in deciding this very important issue. Those of you who already believe in the unit system can reaffirm that commitment on Nov. 8. And those who are undecided should remember that a vote for the unit system is nothing less than a vote for good, honest government.

Outlook for Dukakis grim in Mississippi

The brief euphoria that existed right after the Democratic National Convention in July that Michael Dukakis had a shot at carrying Mississippi on Nov. 8 has now evaporated.

Mississippi is not only put down on every national campaign map as a "safe" state for George Bush, but some GOP polls are believed to show Mississippi may give Bush his highest percentage vote of any state.

Thus it was not surprising last week when the Mississippi State University Poll showed Bush leading Dukakis 58 to 36 based on telephone interviews with 692 likely voters.

Perhaps the key piece of evidence in the MSU poll was the fact that Bush was shown to be getting 75 percent of the white vote while the Massachusetts governor only had 20 percent of the white vote.

This would indicate that there is little hope Dukakis will be able to convert a significant number of the "Reagan Democrats" who voted for Ronald Reagan against Fritz Mondale in 1984.

Exit polls by several television networks in 1984 as reported by the Joint Center for Political Studies had given Mondale only 14 percent of the white vote in Mississippi, significantly lower than any other state in the South.

At work here once again, it seems is the racial factor. Ronald Reagan's strength in the South unquestionably had a lot of its foundation in old line racial prejudice.

Even though Bush is seen by most observers as more moderate than Reagan, there evidently is some of the same white flight from Dukakis as there was from Mondale four years ago.

When the world "liberal" is attached to Dukakis by Bush, many whites connote this with an image that Jesse Jackson is somewhere in the background looking over Dukakis' shoulder, regardless of Dukakis' overt effort to distance himself from Jackson.

Initially there had been a goal of raising $250,000 in Mississippi for Dukakis' national campaign with the help of Gov. Ray Mabus. But that figure has been scaled down to $100,000-$150,000 and is still tough to come by. A fund-raising event for the Dukakis campaign had been planned at the end of September. However, Mabus got the Dukakis people to abandon that plan so as not to compete with a fund-raiser for senatorial candidate Wayne Dowdy.

Meantime, the Bush forces in Mississippi are dealing in considerably larger figures. Charles Pickering, of Laurel, the Bush state chairman, said the Victory 88 campaign in Mississippi had a goal of raising "another $174,000."

Pickering said the campaign would likely spend in the range of $300,000 "or a little bit more" on its get-out-the vote campaign in Mississippi. The Dukakis campaign headquarters here, meanwhile, was believed operating on a $60,000 budget.

Mississippians will not see Dukakis again after his August visit to the Neshoba County Fair, and it appears unlikely either that Bush will be coming into the state.

However, the Mississippi Republicans may have a secret weapon up their sleeves. The Gipper himself may be coming.

Pickering admitted that there was a "realistic chance" that President Reagan will be brought down in October to campaign for both Bush and Senatorial candidate Trent Lott.

The Democrats expect to have Sen. Lloyd Bentsen back at least one more time, and a major appearance of Tennessee Sen. Al Gore is being worked on, probably in Northeast Mississippi where Gore got 50,000 of his 122,000 votes on Super Tuesday.

While Mississippi looks grim for Dukakis, there's apparently real hope held out for the Democrats in four other states in the South.

A recent newspaper poll in North Carolina had Dukakis running even with Bush in that state, and a similar picture apparently exists in Tennessee and Arkansas. The race is reported close in Georgia, and a recent poll put Dukakis within striking distance in Louisiana.

But Alabama, South Carolina and Florida along with Mississippi are being ritually written off.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Removing politics from education

On Nov. 8, Mississippi voters are going to be faced with a number of issues on the ballot that could determine the direction taken by this state for years to come. One of the issues to be decided at the polls is the choice of having elected or appointed superintendents in each school district.

The Mississippi Economic Council encourages passage of the provision which will require the appointment of school superintendents in every school district in the state. The case for appointed superintendents is a strong one, and if the state is to continue making gains in the field of education, this is the next logical step.

Out of Mississippi's 152 public school districts, 66 have elected superintendents. Only in these districts will voters be able to decide if they want to continue the practice or change to the method of appointing these officials.

Voters in these districts should support the appointment of superintendents because:

—Lack of continuity—Since voters are given the opportunity to elect these officials every four years, there is a possibility that someone new will assume the post after each election, accompanied by a new set of administrative policies.

—Politics in education—Elected superintendents are not necessarily the most qualified, but usually are the best politicians. Also, if incumbents choose to run for succeeding terms, they must spend several months on the campaign trail, possibly at the expense of their official duties.

—Limited candidates—Elected superintendents must reside in the particular school district, thus severely limiting the choices for the position. Appointed superintendents, however, do not have to be from that district, which enables the board to review a wider range of qualified candidates.

The state of Mississippi has made great strides in the improvement of its educational system. This will continue if voters decide to remove politics from the educational process, allowing administrators to make decisions based on the needs of the students, not on the needs of the politician.

UNITED WAY—From left, Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr., Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Franckiewicz Jr. and Hancock County Board of Supervisor President sign a proclamation for the Hancock County United Way's 1988 campaign, which benefits 18 service agencies. This year's campaign goal is $70,000. The 18 agencies include Hancock County Emergency Relief Center, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, Mississippi Council on Epilepsy, American Red Cross, Hancock County Blood Bank, Senior Citizens, Retired Senior Volunteer Programs, Catholic Social Services, Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries, U.S.O., Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Hancock County Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund, Hancock County 4-H, Hancock County Food Pantry St. Michael's Farm for Boys and Gulf Coast Women's Center. should not be acceptable. No further action is anticipated by this agency at this time."

J.T. Newkirk, a member of the school site selection committee said he thinks he was tricked. The selection committee, he said, had been given three sites from which to choose.

"The Superintendent of Education promised us we would vote on other sites after we got through with those three, but we were never given that opportunity," Newkirk said.

"I voted on the Stennis site because it was the best out of the three sites we were given to look at," Newkirk continued.

Hancock County Board of Education President Frank Miller said, the selection committee wasn't given the opportunity because, "The view of the board was that if those people started going out on their own looking at sites, there is no telling how many sites we would have had to look at and how long it would have taken."

According to Miller, the board had limited its search for a site to the area between Jordan River and Interstate 10, because it is centrally located in relation to the current population distribution in the county as a whole.

"Personally, I think it is a real good site. We don't have to bus students as far, we don't have to bus to and from Vo-tech, we'll save money and it is safe. "Buddy Broadway, the engineer involved in the site selection, did research with the FAA and found that there is no safety problem," Miller said.

"We'd be glad to stop the petition if they would stop the progress on that site and look for another one," Seal said.

"I think with 5-6,000 signatures, with the support of the Board of Supervisors, the Port and Harbor Commission and the Chamber of Commerce, knowing it is a hazardous, dangerous place should have an effect on the State School Board to do something about relocating that school," Seal concludes.

In the mean time, Debra Sherwin said, "I will move before I send my children to that school."

Randolph was not available for comment.

Waveland... Suspect jailed not all of the problems are the same.

According to Board Attorney Lucien Gex, a civil lawsuit involving Waveland is expected to be settled in November.

The area involved is Margie Street, where there is an unfinished subdivision that lacks sewerage.

However, the lots have already been sold, and the residents are trying to obtain sewerage through litigation.

As he explained the matter to aldermen who were not yet on the board when the suit was filed, the city requires subdivision developers to provide utility pipelines and can not issue a building permit in subdivisions without such improvements.

In addition, the State Board of Health has, for the last several years, imposed a moratorium on sanitation permits where septic tanks do not work properly, which includes most of the southern part of Hancock County. Financing through federal institutions can not be obtained unless a sanitation permit has been issued.

BY DENA BISNETTE
A St. Tammany Parish, La., arrest has solved two Hancock County burglaries and may solve as many as five more, authorities say.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda, Victor Glen Maurice is in a Covington, La., jail on $20,000 and authorities have arrested him for his part in the burglaries. Hoda said Maurice was arrested to help solve the burglaries that occurred on Waveland Cut-off Road and Longfellow Drive and may be involved in more in this area. The investigation is continuing with Hoda in charge.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

For years in our household, the coming of Fall meant the return of luscious pork roasts and chops to the dinner table, for our family cook frowned upon pork in summer as "too heavy and too rich" for our health.

How Mary would relish the pork of these days, leaner and lighter, so much so that pork is heralded by pork interests as "the other white meat"—less fatty and all that—so that we may now eat "high on the hog" so to speak, without overdoing on cholesterol and such.

Oftentimes I still follow Mary's dictum that fruit of some sort must be served along with pork—and, also it's a tasty addition, for pork and fruit seem to have an affinity. As a departure from the time-honored apples or applesauce with pork, I like to use citrus fruits from time to time, as in this recipe for:

ORANGE 'N' SAGE ROAST PORK

2 1/2 to 3 lbs. boneless pork roast
4 Tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. fresh sage, or 1/2 tsp. dried sage
4 Tbsp. sugar
6 Tbsp. red wine vinegar

1/3 cup fresh orange juice
Several orange slices
1 scant cup chicken stock

Melt the butter in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven, over medium heat, and brown the roast on all sides. Place in baking pan, add the sage, sugar, vinegar and chicken stock, and bake, uncovered, for an hour and a half, or until your meat thermometer indicates that the pork is done. (I still test my pork for "doneness" as Mary did—I poke it with the point of a knife, others use a fork.)

Add the orange juice, bathing the pork well, top with slices of orange, and return to the oven for 10 minutes longer. Deglaze the juices in the pan, for your sauce or gravy. (Six servings.)

If you haven't any chicken stock on hand, you may use canned broth or granules and water to make the stock—but, remember, these are usually saltier than the homemade ones, so you may want to dilute further with a little wine or tomato juice or water.

P.S. This roast has an off-the-beaten-path, tangy flavor. Hope you like it—I do!

International recipes to help reduce cancer risk

Pizza, moo goo gai pan, souvlaki—the United States has long been known as a melting pot, and the popular foods of today certainly reflect that fact. But as many Americans become more health conscious, they have begun to wonder how well the taste temptations of various ethnic cuisines fit into a healthy lifestyle and good nutrition.

The American Institute for Cancer Research has answered many of these questions with a new booklet called "From Around the World." This booklet examines the pluses and minuses of several popular ethnic cuisines, and presents sample menus and recipes from various countries for foods that meet the guidelines for good nutrition and good health.

This new booklet is part of the American Institute for Cancer Research's educational programs to help people understand the Dietary Guidelines to Lower Cancer Risk and to demonstrate how easily those guidelines can be adapted to everyday menu planning and even international foods.

Research scientists associated with the institute estimate that as many as 40 to 60 percent of cancers can be linked to our diets. The institute's cancer prevention programs include educational programs, which offer publications such as this booklet, as well as the sponsorship of cancer research at universities and hospitals around the country.

To receive a free copy of the booklet, "From Around the World," send a stamped (45 cents postage), self-addressed business size envelope to American Institute for Cancer Research, Sept. IMI, Washington, D.C. 20069.

The following recipe from the new booklet, shows how a tasty Greek dish can be modified to meet the institute's dietary recommendation to lower fat consumption from our current national average of 40 percent of total daily calories to 30 percent or less.

Featuring traditional Greek flavors of lemon, olive oil and oregano, this recipe contains only 7 grams of fat and 260 calories per serving, which means that only 24.2 percent of its calories come from fat.

LEMON CHICKEN OREGANO

2 Tbsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. olive oil
2 small cloves garlic, mashed
1 tsp. oregano leaves
1/2 tsp. salt (optional)
1/2 tsp. pepper
4 chicken cutlets (5 oz. each)

4 lemon slices (garnish)
2 tsp. fresh parsley, chopped (garnish)

In a shallow glass or stainless steel pan, combine the lemon juice, oil, garlic, oregano, salt and pepper. Add the chicken. Turn to coat with the marinade, cover and refrigerate at least one hour.

Transfer the chicken to a shallow baking pan and arrange the cutlets in a single layer. Brush with half the marinade and broil for 4 minutes. Turn the chicken over, brush with the remaining marinade, and broil until browned, about 4 minutes more.

Serve garnished with the lemon slices and parsley. A red bean salad, whole wheat pita bread and fresh pear slices can round out the menu. Remember that despite the popularity of many delicious Greek pastries, they are high-calorie, high-fat items, usually served only on holidays in their native land, and should be eaten only in moderation. A much more traditional, everyday dessert with a Greek meal would be fresh fruit.

Loyola Band featured in Business Assn. concert

Continuing the tradition of the concert in the park, the Bay St. Louis Business Association will hold its fourth concert of the year in the City Hall park in downtown Bay St. Louis on Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 6:30 p.m.

An association spokesperson announced that the group has been fortunate in booking the popular Loyola Jazz Band which will feature its 'Big Band' sound. The group is composed of 17 musicians and is well known throughout the South.

The concert is free to the public and offers an evening of grand entertainment under the old live oaks in the City Hall park. Everyone is urged to bring their lawn chairs or ground cover and relax listening to Loyola's Big Band sounds.

Food and drink will be available on the grounds before and during the concert.

The Bay St. Louis Business Association is an organization that has featured live concerts for the public at no cost. Instrumental in being partners in progress for the Bay area, it is unique in that it considers itself to be totally self-supporting through its own contributions in a large number of gospel and regards itself as a support arm for county organizations.

Plans are being made currently for a gospel singing presentation in November featuring groups in the South. In December, the association will host a gala Christmas Day in the Bay celebration that will be a first on the Coast.

FARM NEWS

Mississippi farmers urged to vote in November election

Mississippi farmers must take the time to cast their votes in the Nov. 8 general election.

This is the feeling expressed by Hugh Arant, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation. Arant, in discussing the upcoming elections, said, "Farmers are greatly impacted by federal legislation and regulations on agriculture. It is vital that members of the farming community be in a position to cast an informed vote because such legislation and regulations will be enacted or greatly influenced by the people elected in November."

The farm leader emphasized that every citizen should take the opportunity to express their feelings by voting. "In 1984, less than 60 percent of the registered voters in our state voted in the general election. This means that over 700,000 people failed to take part, a figure that could affect the outcome of any election," he stated.

Farm Bureau members across the state are being reminded of the deadlines for voter registration and absentee ballots. Oct. 8 is the last day to register and still vote in the November election. Absentee ballot requests must be made in person by noon, Nov. 5. The ballots must be returned by mail no later than Nov. 7.

Arant concluded his remarks by saying, "Every vote is important. It cannot be emphasized enough that each person of voting age should take part in our election process. Voting is a right that each of us should hold high, and we should exercise that right in an informed manner."

Acreage, crop production reports mandatory for drought assistance

Before farmers can receive payment on their 1988 disaster-affected crops, Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office said they must certify that they are in compliance with the sodbuster and swampbuster provisions of the Food Security Act of 1985.

In order to receive disaster payments, farmers are also required to furnish ASCS with acreage and crop production reports showing the intended uses for each crop.

According to Gennin, the 1988 disaster program authorizes payments on participating program crops of wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, extra long staple cotton, and rice; nonparticipating program crops; peanuts, soybeans, sugar beets, sugarcane and tobacco; and on all commercial nonprogram crops.

Crops not eligible for disaster benefits are seed corn for which the producer elects not to consider as corn for any purpose, and the crop planted after initial failed or prevented plantings, except in recognized double cropping situations.

"We encourage farmers to organize their production data so that they will have the necessary information when they apply for disaster payments." The ASCS official said farmers may begin applying for the disaster payment program starting in early October.

Further details for the 1988 disaster payment program may be obtained from the local ASCS office.

The summer drought may have caused problems for Mississippi's commercial watermelon producers, but it hasn't discouraged them from planting again next year.

Commercial producers planted about 12,000 acres of watermelons this year. They had the potential to grow 20,000 pounds of melon, but they fell well short of that goal because of extended dry weather.

Fewer melons produced this summer meant higher prices for the ones that were grown, and the price per pound stayed above 5 cents until late August.

Consumers paid between $1.00 and $3.99 for a watermelon, depending upon its size.

That meant producers weren't out much money even though they didn't meet their potential. The major cost of growing watermelons is in harvesting, rather than production.

"The producers aren't out any money, but we haven't had a really good watermelon crop in three years," said Dr. David Nagel, a horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "This year was the worst by far."

Watermelon crops in some counties fared better than others. Smith County, the state's No. 1 commercial watermelon producer, had a good crop. George and Wayne counties had problems with their melon crops, Nagel said.

In other agricultural news, many cotton farmers are harvesting and ginning a portion of their crop. Early yields have been average and grade (quality) has been good.

Mississippi Forestry Association plans October 26-27 meet

Mississippi Forestry Association's (MFA's) 51st annual meeting is scheduled for Oct. 26-27 at the Ramada Renaissance Hotel in Jackson. The meeting will feature a variety of educational, entertaining and social events, as well as ongoing business of the association.

Forest Landowner Day, traditionally held during MFA's annual meeting, is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 27, and features the theme, "Forestland Management: Today's Choices." Experts will address such topics as "Coping with Hunting Pressures," "Managing Timber and Wildlife Together," and "IRS Regulations and Management Decisions."

The annual banquet will feature comedienne Brett Butler, who frequently makes guest appearances on national television shows. The banquet, to be held the evening of Oct. 26, also will feature presentation of awards.

MFA president George Faure of Vicksburg will lead all business sessions.

Other meeting highlights will include exhibits featuring new products and services, drawing for prizes, a golf tournament, a tour of the Pearl River Wildlife Management Area, and special programs for spouses.

To register or learn more about the meeting, contact MFA at 620 N. State St., Jackson, MS 39202-3398 or phone 354-4936.

DROUGHT EFFECT

Has the summer drought dried up food supplies? "Farmweek" looks at the impact the long, hot summer of 1988 has had on food prices—for both the consumer and the farmer.

"Farmweek" reporters Tyson Gair and Ralph Brassett also offer agricultural news of the day, market reports, price analyses, weather reports and consumer information when the program airs at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 10, on Mississippi ETV.

SECRETS OF THE MIND

The workings of the human brain have fascinated scientists and laymen for centuries. In 1984, public television unlocked some of the functional secrets of this elusive structure in the multi-award-winning series, "The Brain."

Now, a new series takes those findings on step further by exploring the realm of "The Mind." This nine-part series attempts to define the links between the brain and behavior and the nature of what it means to be human. It premieres at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12 on Mississippi ETV.

The first episode, "The Search for the Mind," sets the state for the series by examining the uniqueness of the human mind, the nature of consciousness and the depths of the subconscious.

Weekend international Food Fest to benefit Our Lady Academy

OLA SENIOR TIFFANY RAYMOND

Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis is preparing for the sixth international Food Fest on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 8 and 9, at the corner of Beach Boulevard and Hwy. 90. Hours are noon to 10 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The OLA Parent-Teacher Organization uses the Food Fest as the only activity to supplement the budget by raising funds to fill the gap between tuition and expenses. The purchase of additional equipment such as computers, electric typewriters, copy machine and new lockers for the school is made possible by this fundraiser. This project involves the entire Christian community of Our Lady Academy with cooking, manning booths, selling tickets, and gathering ad money.

The 1988 Food Fest co-chairmen are Theresa Braud and Grace Santa Cruz. They will be assisted by the following booth chairman: Sharon Fagot, Mexican; Barbara Carter, Country Store; the Alcaen family, Oriental; John Chapman of Chappy's Restaurant in Long Beach, Cajun; Mary Baxter and Laura Griffith, Italian; and Joanne Kinney, Greek. Ellen Breath and Weezie

Kennedy, American; Elaine Selle and John Chevis; Drinks; Dale Schill, Seafood; Genitte Butsch, Western; Jane Dugas, Snow Cones; Gene Monti, Cotton Candy; Millie Rutledge, Suzi Lee and Toni Larroux, Desserts.

Dayle Gagnon (467-3525) is the chairman in charge of renting space for displaying Arts and Crafts for sale.

Trecia Todd, OLA senior and Student Council president, has been busy getting the high school girls involved in the Food Fest. They will help Sister Jacqueline set up and clean up and help Pat Ellis with Kiddieland. The Senior OLA girls have also been assisting Sandy Kolodziej, Joan Dagnall and Margaret Boyce in the newspaper ads.

The ticket booths for food and drinks and the $1,000 drawing will be manned by OLA faculty. Martha Cummings is in charge of door prizes.

Melana Strong will be serving coffee and beignets starting at 7 a.m. on Saturday and after 7 a.m. Mass on Sunday.

Admission and parking is free. The continuous live entertainment will include Bo and Dee as well as the Cajun music of Laissez Faire.

ELECT W.B. "BILL" WHITFIELD

For Supervisor
Beat 3

What is the bottom line in choosing a person to represent District 3 on November 8?

I hope you think it is good business and good administration of county affairs. I have run my own business in this county for thirty years. I think I can do a good job as your supervisor.

I hope you think it is knowing the people of the county as well as the city. I live in the city but earn my living in the county.

I hope you think it is being involved. If you agree, please vote for W.B. "Bill" Whitfield on Election Day.

Morning Star revival planned

Morning Star Baptist Church will host a revival Monday, Oct. 10 through Friday, Oct. 14.

The Rev. Alex Wesco, evangelist, will deliver the nightly sermon at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Wesco is pastor of Little Zion Baptist Church in Waveland.

The public is invited to worship with the Morning Star congregation and its pastor, Rev. Walter Beck. The church is located at corner Sycamore and Watts streets.

Beat/unit systems report produced by Stennis Institute

In a statewide referendum Nov. 8, Mississippi voters will get a chance to decide the future structure of their county government—the traditional beat system or new unit system. To provide a better understanding of what the vote is all about, the John C. Stennis Institute of Government at Mississippi State University has produced a 52-page study designed to help sort out considerable public confusion over the choices.

Only an information report, it takes no sides in the issue and makes no recommendations.

And, in conjunction with its publication, the Stennis Institute is planning a series of public meetings around the state, in October, to answer questions about the referendum. Date, time and location of the meetings are still being finalized.

"County Government Reorganization Act of 1988" compared the district, or "beat," system with the possibilities of administration under a centralized, or unit system.

Under the beat system, five supervisors exercise joint legislative and executive powers by district. Under the unit system, their major function would be in setting countywide policies to be carried out by a professional administrative staff.

The soft-bound booklet was prepared by center director Charles W. Washington, faculty research associate William M. "Marty" Wiseman and research assistant Katri Welford.

Included within its pages is a section on "most asked" question about the referendum and the likely shape of county government after the election. Information it also provided on what can be expected during a transition period if voters choose the unit system.

The report is now available at $3 a copy. The charge is necessary to help defray printing costs.

To obtain copies or information about the upcoming referendum forums, telephone the institute at 325-3328 or write in care of P.O. Drawer LV, Mississippi State, Miss. 39762.

Favre logs most passes in USM football season

The University of Southern Mississippi kicks off its only three-game road trip of the season when they play Tulane Saturday in the New Orleans Superdome. Game time is set for 3 p.m.

The Golden Eagles go into the game after hosting Louisville, while Tulane played Florida State, the Greenwave's fourth home game of the season.

Before the Louisville game, USM had another wild encounter with East Carolina. With 1:38 to go in the game, USM got the ball on its own 36 and marched 64 yards in eight plays to score the winning touchdown. USM has won the last five games between the schools.

Both teams will feature first-year head coaches in USM's Curley Hallman and Tulane's Greg Davis. Davis inherits a team with 37 returning lettermen from last year's 6-6 squad. That total includes 14 starters, seven on offense and seven on defense.

The two teams have played nine times and USM leads the series 5-4 after taking last year's game at USM 31-24. Tied at halftime, freshman Brett Favre was inserted into the game late in the third quarter and brought a spark to the Golden Eagle offense.

In that game, Favre completed six of 10 passes for 85 yards and two touchdowns. Favre went on to set a record for most TD passes in a season.

Another true freshman making a name for himself was Kerry Valrie who came off the bench and picked off two Terrance Jones passes in helping to insure the victory. In all, the Eagle offense produced 340 yards while Tulane managed only 291 yards, just 83 of that passing.

Through four games, tailback Shelton Gandy led the Eagles in rushing with 319 yards and three TDs. Alfred Williams continued to lead the receivers with 13 catches for 212 yards, and freshman punter Scott Bryant continued to show impressive stats with 23 punts for a 42.0 average.

Tickets to the USM-Tulane game along with tickets to all remaining Golden Eagle games remain on sale at the ticket office located in Green Coliseum on the USM campus. USM has one home game remaining on the schedule, Memphis State. That game is set for Oct. 29 and will mark homecoming for USM.

Hawks play St. Martin in first district game

The Hancock North Central Hawks will play their homecoming and first district game Friday night against the St. Martin Yellowjackets.

Going into the second half of the season the 5-0 Hawks, ranked 11th in the state, are shooting for the play-offs.

"Our goal as a football team is to be in the play-offs and the road to that begins Friday," Hawks' Head Coach Irving Favre said.

Four of the next five games on the Hawks' schedule are District 4-A games; to earn a play-off berth those are the games they need to win.

"This will be a very crucial game; every district game is important," Favre said.

The Yellowjackets are 3-2 for the season and 0-2 in district play.

St. Martin and Hancock traditionally has been a good, Favre said.

"Last year we made a second half comeback to beat St. Martin 35-12, but it was all in the second half," he said.

"St. Martin likes to throw the ball and runs some crazy formations, and seeing how St. Stanislaus passed against us last Friday that could cause us some problems," Favre said.

The Hawks will have to key in on two Yellowjacket players in particular, according to the coach.

"The two Mosley brothers, Ernest at quarterback and Demetrius at running back, both have very good speed.

We'll have to be alert on the defensive unit. We'll have to contain those two," Favre conceded.

The Hawks do not plan to change their offensive style this week.

"We have played well offensively, we just need to gain full offensive control," Favre said.

Kick-off time is 7:30 p.m.. The coach expects a large crowd and recommends that spectators arrive early if they want a seat.

Good homecoming contest expected

Tigers prepare for Long Beach Bearcats

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay High Tigers face their old rival the Long Beach Bearcats Friday night as they celebrate Homecoming 1988.

According to Tiger Head Coach Bob Lumpkin, "It ought to be real competitive. Long Beach always plays Bay St. Louis real tough."

"It's a big rivalry. We've been playing each other for years and there's not that much distance between us. It's not quite like St. Stanislaus or Hancock, but it's a big game."

He said the Bearcats have had a winless season so far, while Bay High has one win to its credit.

The Tigers have to overcome some nagging injuries this week, Lumpkin said, adding that the injured list includes two key starters, fullback Travis Haynes and starting offensive guard and noseguard Doral Nichols.

The coach said he expects all of his players to be able to play on Friday, although possibly not to full capacity.

The Tigers have been working particularly hard on defense, since their 28-7 defeat by East Central last week was largely the result of defensive mistakes, Lumpkin commented.

"We have got to have improvement on our defense."

He said is also somewhat concerned about whether his players will maintain a psychological edge because the Long Beach contest is the homecoming game, or will be unable to concentrate on the game due to all the other activities that surround homecoming.

"If you look at it though, that's what homecoming really is, the game," said Lumpkin. "We have to keep up our intensity."

The game begins at 7:30 p.m. at J.D. McCullough Field, with pregame festivities scheduled for 6:45 p.m.

St. Stanislaus to host Poplarville Friday

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chow football team will attempt to get back on the winning track when they entertain the Poplarville Hornets Friday night at Rock-A-Chow Stadium.

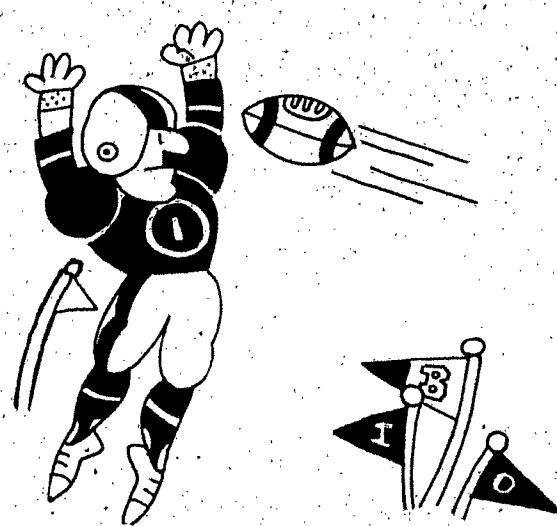

The Hornets are seeking to avenge a 35-12 loss to the Hawks last year in Poplarville.

Poplarville is a dangerous team, with a 4-4 record. They lost to Hancock North Central 21-14 in a homecoming game last week.

"This is a very pivotal game for us. We want to win this one badly if we are to have a winning season. We are trying to establish St. Stanislaus as a solid football team," said Coach Ken Lyons.

Poplarville runs a wing-T and slot offense, in which they run and throw in a balanced attack. Their quarterback runs their offense effectively, and is complemented by a good side receiver and tough running backs.

"Morale on our squad is good this week," continued Lyons. "We are a much better team than our record indicates, and we hope to prove that this day night."

Coast Episcopal Raiders fall to Columbia Academy Cougars

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders closed their home season with a 28-0 loss to the Columbia Academy Cougars Saturday.

The game was scoreless with only 46 seconds remaining in the first quarter when Columbia completed a 32-yard touchdown pass.

The Raiders, led by the running of Hutson Lambert and Sterling Thibodeaux, marched down to the 15-yard line only to suffer a holding penalty that eventually led to a punt. The first half ended 14-0.

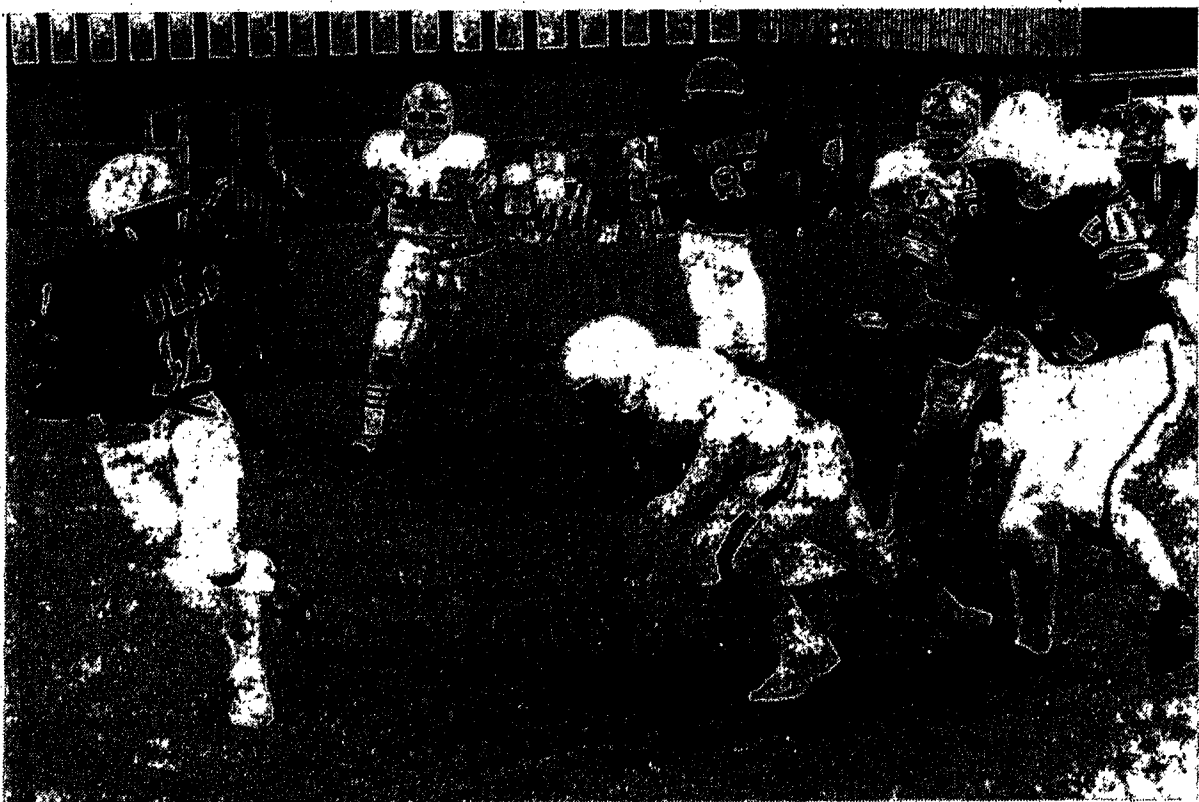

The second half proved equally frustrating for the Raiders as their passing game never got going, and the Cougars sensing victory tightened up their run defense.

Defense tackle Jamie White of the Raiders earned special recognition for two quarterback sacks.

The Raiders travel to Toxie, Alabama Friday, Oct. 7 to Play South Choctaw Academy.

BAY JUNIOR HIGH VS GULFVIEW—For the second time this season Bay Junior High Tigers and Gulfview Bulldogs will meet on the football field. The first meeting took place at Gulfview on Sept. 15 with the Tigers coming out on top 32-14. Tonight's game is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. at Tiger Stadium. Pictured, from left, are Germaine Lymuel, No. 41; Brad Fredrick, No. 83; and Gerrit Carver, No. 50.

Fall safe boating courses to begin Oct. 25 in Pass Christian Flotilla 35 of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary in Pass Christian will offer its fall 'Boating Skills and Seamanship Courses' beginning Oct. 25 through Nov. 15 at 7:45 p.m. in the Pass Christian Public Library.

Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, 7:45 to 10 p.m. Instructions are free, however, course material will be $12.50 to cover all student books and study guides.

Upon successful completion of the 12 lessons, a certificate will be issued each graduate. For information call 452-4884.

7th and 8th Grade Rocks lose in overtime, 14-12

After battling the St. John Eagles to a 0-0 scoreless tie in regulation play, the 7th and 8th Grade St. Stanislaus football team fell to the Eagles 14-12 after three overtime series.

St. John had first possession at the SSC 10-yard line, and on second down the Eagles scored on a pass play. The extra point was no good, and the Rocks took over at the St. John 10 trailing 6-0.

Quarterback Bryce Gex threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Danny Jackson to knot the score, but the Rock-A-Chaws' extra point attempt to win the game was no good.

Neither team scored in their second overtime possession. In the third series, St. John scored on their third play, and made the crucial extra point to extend their lead over the Rocks to 14-6. SSC took over and Gex threw to Jason Camiola who was brought down on the St. John one-yard line. From there Gex drove over to bring the score to 14-12.

The two-point extra point attempt fell short as Gex's pass to Jackson was incomplete, and St. John held on to a 14-12 victory.

SSC coaches Chuck Gegin and Rory Rafferty were pleased with the team's performance. "I thought Gex, Jackson, Mark Murray, Regan Leopold, Duffy Dwyer and Marc Sherwin played outstanding for us," said Coach Rafferty. "We were also impressed with the play of Kris Minchew and Bo McCranie. Next Thursday the Rocks travel to St. Martin to battle the Yellow Jackets. SSC is 0-3 for the season.

Mississippi College plans homecoming festivities Oct. 22

"The Time of My Life" will be the Homecoming theme at Mississippi College scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 22, and alumni from the Bay St. Louis area are invited to return to the campus for a weekend of special activities.

"Homecoming is always a festive occasion," said Bernard Blackwell, director of Alumni Affairs and coordinator for the event, "and we are looking for a record crowd to return this year so we hope alumni and friends in the local area will get their reservations in soon."

Reservations may be made by calling the alumni office on campus at 925-3208.

The weekend gets underway on Friday, Oct. 21, with golf and tennis tournaments planned for alumni and guests starting at 1 p.m., while a "Run-For-Fun" distance race is scheduled for 9 a.m. on Saturday.

The 11th annual banquet of the national M' Club is set for 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of the B. C. Rogers Student Center on Friday, with four former Choctaw athletic greats scheduled for induction in the Sports Hall of Fame. A pre-banquet reception honoring the inductees is set for 5:30 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m. on Friday the fourth annual Homecoming Follies will unfold in Swor Auditorium of Nelson Hall and from 8-11 p.m. Dr. and Mrs. George Pittman will host an open house for all alumni of the 1950's.

Homecoming registration will get underway at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Followed by class reunions of the Classes of '48, '53, '58, '63, '68, '73, '78 and the 50-Year Club, plus reunion meetings of various other groups.

The Alumni Association Awards Luncheon is set for noon in the A. E. Wood Coliseum with the 'Alumnus of the Year' and recipients of the 'Order of the Golden Arrow' among those to be recognized. The luncheon will feature an exhibit of art work compiled by Dr. Earl Cleveland, a 1961 graduate and now head of the art department at Carson-Newman College.

A parade, patio show and other reunion sessions of campus groups are all scheduled in the afternoon. The day will climax with the Homecoming football game at 5 p.m. in Robinson-Hale Stadium with the Choctaws hosting Gulf South Conference foe West Georgia College.

PRC defeats Gulf Coast, 21-14

Mistakes. Gulf Coast Community College made them and the Pearl River Wildcats didn't. Outcome, Pearl River Community College, 21, and the Gulf Coast Bulldogs, 14.

Still, the PRC Wildcats had to fight off a strong second half challenge by the Gulf Coast Bulldogs in Biloxi Saturday to pull out a win over their arch-rival South Division opponent.

The win pushed the Cats to a 3-1 overall mark and a 2-0-1 South ledger. Gulf Coast fell to 2-3 and 2-1. It was the Wildcats' second consecutive win over the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs just made too many mistakes on the very wet football field.

Five fumbles were the big key, particularly when the Bulldogs lost all five and two resulted in touchdowns for the Wildcats.

Wildcat coach Mike Nelson was happy to get the win. "I thought the field conditions were very poor, particularly after the rain this morning and early this afternoon. It was very wet and I just didn't think we were able to utilize the speed of which we were capable," Nelson said.

"Yet Gulf Coast played a great game. We just managed to make some big plays when we needed to."

The lack of turnovers pleased Nelson. "We've played five games in the rain this year and our turnover ratio has been superior. Our backs and receivers have been doing a great job holding on to the ball. I guess you could say we've gotten used to wet conditions."

Pearl River's first score late in the opening period came as a result of the Bulldogs' second fumble of the night. Fullback Demetric Hall crashed over from the one-yard line, after teammate Sedrick Washington recovered the fumble at the Gulf Coast 24 and moved for the score in six plays.

On Gulf Coast's third fumble, the Wildcats recovered the ball and it was defensive tackle Son-dray Taylor at the Gulf Coast 13. Three plays later, Hall scored again, this time from the four-yard line.

Anthony Bowie kicked both PATs following the two scores as the Wildcats led 14-0 at halftime.

The Bulldogs got some of it back with 3:26 left in the third period as Louis Clarence scored from three yards out, following the Bulldogs' only good drive of the night, which carried from their own 17 for the score in 14 plays.

Early in the final period, Pearl River appeared to have scored again on a 52-yard pass from quarterback Eric Brister to wingback Terry Carter, but the play was called back when the Wildcats were detected to be in motion.

Then with 7:50 left to play in the game, Bulldog quarterback Chris Pettis hit tight end Jesse Stewart on a 12-yard scoring pass. The key play in a 68-yard drive was a 57-yard screen pass from Pettis to Mike Canty, who carried, from the Gulf Coast 32 to the Pearl River 11, as Wildcat defender Kenneth Bullock dragged Canty down from behind.

Garden Isle Association names fishing winners

BIG CATCH—John Fore displays winning catches of redfish, flounder and drum, weighing 7 pounds, 3 ounces; 2 pounds, 1 ounce; and 4 pounds, one-half ounce, respectively, in the Garden Isle Fishing Tournament.

Garden Isle Community Association held its annual fall fishing rodeo Sept. 23-25. The weigh-in was at the Alberes residence with Lester Alberes and Fred Sandrock as weigh masters.

The winners each received a gift certificate from Sportsworld.

Winners were Richard Sandoz, sheephead, 2 lbs. 6 1/2 oz.; Bubba Williams, bass, 15 oz.; Alex Hossack, croaker, 14 oz.; John Fore, flounder, 2 lbs. 3/4 oz.; John Fore, drum, 4 lbs. 1/4 oz.; John Fore, red fish, 7 lbs. 3 oz.; Jason Sandrock, catfish, 12 oz.; and F. E. Kennedy, trout, 1 lb. 6 1/2 oz.

John Fore, a new resident of Garden Isles, was the winner of three categories. After the weigh-in a good time was had by all with refreshments and food. President Elroy Schwebel was glad to see such a fine crew of fishermen, and congratulated them on their catch of the day.

Eagles continue with come-from-behind wins

Add one more chapter to a rapidly expanding book of storybook finishes being assembled by coach Curley Hallman and his 1988 version of The University of Southern Mississippi football Golden Eagles.

The latest chapter heading would read: USM 30; Louisville 28. Subheadings would have to include: Weather awful;

Excitement...abundant; and, Results...rewarding.

If you have not kept pace with this developing storyline, be advised that the Eagles have trailed in all five games they have played this season, but also have managed to come from behind in all of them except one (against Florida State). That translates into a 4-1 USM record and the best start since going 5-1 to open the 1983 season.

The latest victory contained many of the same elements of the first three. Weather conditions were, at best, horrible; for the fourth time in five games the Eagles failed to score in the first period; there were great individual and team performances for both teams; and, the game went on for a very long time, three hours and five minutes to be exact, thanks in part to television (back to Louisville) timeouts, 66 total passes and 834 yards of total offense.

For the visiting Cards, Jay Gruden led his club to the brink of victory as he completed 16 of 31 passes for 234 yards and three TD's. USM's sensational sophomore, Brett Favre, was (if anything) even better as he connected on 20 of 32 aerials for 275 yards, on one TD. That scoring pass moved him into sole possession of first place on USM's career touchdown passes list with 21 and he did it in only his 15th game for the Eagles.

The Hancock County native now has hit on 76 of 144 passes this season (.529) good for 1,003 yards and six TD's. He also has been intercepted only three times in the process.

Senior tailback Shelton Gandy had another big game with 110 yards rushing on 29 carries. It was his second straight 100 yard rushing game of the season, and the ninth of his career. He now needs only 31 yards to move past Reggie Collier and into seventh place on USM's all time rushing list.

Other bright spots include eight different players with pass receptions, led by Alfred Williams with 137 yards and a TD on six catches; Scott Bryant with four punts in the mud good for a 41.2 average; and a Golden Eagle defense that, while giving up more than desirable yardage, always managed to come up with the big play. That included a pair of pass interceptions and a pair of fumble recoveries.

Senior linebacker George Hill of Eufaula, Ala., had undoubtedly the best game of his career while leading all tacklers with 17 total stops. He also had a fumble recovery and a pass interception.

With the victory, USM continued its domination over the Cardinals. The Eagles now lead the series 11-3-1 and have not lost to the Louisville school in the last seven years.

What's ahead for the Eagles? Tulane is the obvious answer. The two teams will play at 3 p.m., Oct. 8 in the Louisiana Superdome. The Greenies are 3-2 and fresh from a 48-28 loss to the same Florida State team that holds the only victory thus far this season over the Golden Eagles.

However, the less-than-obvious answer to the question won't be available until after the game. And there are other unanswered questions, such as:

Can the Eagles keep their streak alive, can they win one in 'normal' fashion, and, can coach Hallman, his staff, and USM fans stand much more in the way of late heroics?

While some of those questions may be hard to answer, if the results remain the same, the answer to the last part of the question by all concerned would be a resounding "yes."

Bassin' with the pros

How to bluff a bass

Of all types of structure in a lake, few are more obvious than the steep, imposing bluff banks that cradle some waters. Few are more lightly fished, either.

"Actually," says top lady bass pro Fredda Lee, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, "bluffs can offer surprisingly good fishing, especially in the middle of the day when other structure doesn't produce."

The key to look for when fishing a bluff says the former model-turned bass pro is a gradual stair-stepping bottom below the water. Bass often hold on these steps and willingly hit jigs, worms and crankbaits.

When the bluff continues straight down, explains Lee, the places to fish are at either end of the bluff where the bottom is more likely to be a gentle slope of gravel and smaller rocks.

"Normally, I like to study a bluff with a depthfinder or chart recorder before I start fishing," says Lee. "Often, you can guess at what's below by studying how it looks above water, but a run along the edge with a depthfinder will tell you for certain."

"Another thing I look for are possible points or pockets within the bluff itself, which bass always seem to use. I also look for rock slides, timber that has washed in and anchored, or anything else that breaks up the sheer face of the bluff because that's what bass will be attracted to."

Lee fishes stair-step bluffs several ways. One technique is positioning her boat in 15 to 17 feet of water and casting a jig directly in toward the rocks. She plays out line and gradually hops the jig down the steps, Another technique she recommends anglers try is parallel casting along the rock face with a deep diving crankbait. When she feels the lure bounce into the rocks, she hesitates the retrieve momentarily, then starts reeling again. The lure acts like a crayfish skittering along the bottom.

"When you cast parallel like this," says Lee, "you can easily work several depths, depending on where you position your boat. Sometimes I have my boat 10 or 12 feet out from the bluff, and other times I'll be right in tight against the rocks."

Where bluffs are standing by themselves in the water seemingly out in the middle of nowhere, the Johnson Outboards pro often concentrates on the upstream side of the bluff where there is likely to be some debris washed in or possibly an eddy where the water breaks around the rocks. In either instance, bass are often present.

"Surprisingly," says Lee, "these isolated bluffs are often better than the regular shoreline bluffs, simply because they offer the only shallow structure around. When I see them in a lake I always check them with a depthfinder."

On some lakes with steep bluffs, bass will also hit a fast-moving spinnerbait, says Lee. The trick is to bring the lure back as close to the rock wall as possible and as fast as possible without breaking the surface.

"I've also noticed bluffs that have darker shades of rock hold bass better than light shades of rock," says Lee. It's simply a matter of light reflection. The fish feel more comfortable where the rock doesn't reflect as much light."

Blue crab management studied by GCRL duo

Harriet Perry and John Cirino of Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs will be serving on the task force developing a strategic plan for managing blue crabs in Mississippi under the auspices of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation.

This management plan will serve as a blueprint for allocating funds toward specific resource goals and objectives, as well as to promote action rather than reaction in conservation efforts. It is hoped that the plan will alert resource users to the needs of wildlife, provide ways of dealing with the increase complexity of wildlife management, and address the public demand for greater agency accountability. While recognizing rapid changes in laws, technology, environment and public attitudes.

Additionally, Ms. Perry is serving on the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission committee developing a regional management plan for blue crabs in the Gulf of Mexico which will coordinate interjurisdictional management and research for coastal resources.

Task force members are state resource biologists representing the five Gulf states, while economists, social scientists, industry personnel and food technologists serve in an advisory capacity.

National Wildlife Federation releases naturalist publication

The National Wildlife Federation (NWF), America's largest conservation organization, has recently published two books, Ned Smith's Wildlife Sketchbook and The Backyard Naturalist, by Craig Tufts.

The Backyard Naturalist contains selections from the author's nationally distributed newspaper column of the same title. The appealing style of these pieces, and Tufts' enthusiasm for the natural world, have won him a wide readership. The Backyard Naturalist reveals techniques for attracting animals, birds, butterflies and other wildlife into backyard gardens through appropriate combinations of landscaping and plantings. In the process, Tufts conveys fascinating information about wildlife and gently suggests methods of gardening that protect the environment.

To attract butterflies, for example, Tufts advises planting nectar-bearing flowers such as marigolds or zinnias in a sunny area. Planting these flowers among vegetables adds color and wards off some insects that might otherwise require pesticides. Likewise, unwanted yellowjacket nests can sometimes be destroyed by smearing honey near the entrance. The honey attracts skunks that eat the honey and the bees—workers, queen, and larvae!

Craig Tufts, a biologist and leading expert on gardening for wildlife, oversees the federation's Backyard Wildlife Habitat program and has also appeared on public television series, "The Victory Garden."

Ned Smith's Wildlife Sketchbook brings together many of the popular columns of the late Ned Smith, a self-taught naturalist, writer and artist. From the middle 1960s until his death in 1985, Smith's works appeared in National Wildlife, National Geographic, Natural History, and virtually every sporting magazine in the country.

Smith's "office" was all of the outdoors, and he spent far more than the usual 40 hours a week there. He once said that "seeing is more than merely looking...it involves noticing things." No one was better than Smith at noticing the natural world, and the Sketchbook contains a fascinating blend of facts and drawings that old friends and newcomers to Smith's works alike can enjoy.

Both Ned Smith's Wildlife Sketchbook and The Backyard Naturalist are available in many bookstores and by mail from NWF, 1400 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. For Ned Smith's Wildlife Sketchbook, specify order number 19736 and send $8.95 plus $3.25 for shipping charges. For The Backyard Naturalist, specify order number 19737 and send $6.95 plus $3.25 for shipping charges.

The National Wildlife Federation is the nation's largest conservation organization, with more than 5.1 million members and supporters and 50 affiliate organizations nationwide. A private, not-for-profit organization, the federation was founded in 1936.

Coastal Family Health opens new clinic

The Coastal Family Health Center's Hancock County Clinic has moved to 100 Hancock Square in Bay St. Louis, next to Hancock Medical Center.

The center provides medical, obstetrical and gynecological services. Charges are based upon family size and income. The clinic is open from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Services are by appointment. The telephone number is 466-3144.

The clinic staff includes

David Handshoe, MD, internal medicine physician, and Michael Gibney, DO, OB/GYN physician.

The Coastal Family Health Center is a private, non-profit corporation designed to provide health care to those who cannot be served by private physicians. The center also accepts Medicaid, Medicare and insurance.

The center has served more than 40,000 persons since its inception in 1978. The Hancock County Clinic opened in Sept. 1987.

Literacy tutor training scheduled

A workshop for training volunteer tutors in Laubach Literacy methods will be presented by Helene S. Roth, coordinator of Hancock County Adult Literacy Education (ALITE), on Saturday, Oct. 15 and continuing the following Saturday, Oct. 22.

Each Saturday session will be six hours, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and ending at 2:30 p.m. and will be held at the meeting room of the Bay St. Louis Library on Hwy. 90.

This 12-hour workshop will result in Laubach Literacy certification for volunteer tutors and is open to any adult wishing to learn how to teach other adults to read and write. Those interested in the problem of illiteracy and those wishing to update their teaching skills are also invited to attend.

Attendance at both sessions is required for certification, although the second session may be made at a later workshop date if necessary.

A fee of $10 covers the cost of teacher's manual for Skillbook One and a tutor handbook. The number of participants will be limited; pre-register by calling the library at 467-5282.

Hancock Bank offers Summer Olympics commemorative coins

In conjunction with the 1988 Summer Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, Hancock Bank is offering for sale official United States Olympic Commemorative Coins, according to George Schloegel, executive vice president of Hancock Bank. The coins are available at the main branch in downtown Gulfport, the Pascagoula-Moss Point Bank Division main branch on Magnolia Street in Pascagoula and at the Bay 90 branch on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

The gold and silver Olympic Coins are being minted this year to commemorate U.S. participation in the 1988 Olympic Games. They are the only United States Government-issued legal tender keepsakes of the games. Through a surcharge included in each coin cost, sales of the coins are expected to raise $49 million for the training of present and future Olympic athletes under the auspices of the United States Olympic Committee. Hancock Bank is urging friends and customers in the Mississippi Gulf Coast area to consider purchasing the coins during this time of public Olympic awareness. "We are very supportive of the Mint's program," said Schloegel.

Congress authorized these coins to be minted, and we are proud to be offering them to the public. By purchasing Olympic coins you make a valuable contribution to the USOC, and you receive a lasting reminder of both your contribution and the 1988 Olympic Games."

The 1988 U.S. Olympic Coins are being produced in limited quantities specified by Congress. No more than one million $5 gold coins and ten million $1 silver coins will be minted.

The 1988 U.S. Olympic Silver Dollar is available at Hancock Bank for $29. The two-coin gold and silver set is $260. A five coin proof set which includes a half dollar, quarter, dime, nickel and penny is also available for $11. The U.S. Olympic Coins will be available while supplies last.

"Bad News Jeff"

Meet the 'town crier'

BY D.C. HARVILL

A time was, when communication and community were the same, every village had a town crier, someone to race through the streets alerting the citizenry of important happenings.

But, with the advent of the telephone, wireless, satellite-remote television and all the other technological whiz-bangs of the 20th century designed to bring the world closer together, we no longer know our neighbors and the community grows farther apart. Alas, the town crier has long since faded to black. Or has he?

Bay St. Louis may be the last town able to claim its own town crier. Some don't know his name, others refer to him merely as "Bad News Jeff" but one thing is for sure, Jeff Fusch has become legendary in Hancock County for traveling around town carrying the news.

Born in Lakeshore in 1934, one of Vladimir and Jessie Fusch's five sons, and raised in New Orleans, Jeff isn't a town crier by profession, but a personal catastrophe in 1965 led him to assume the role as an avocation.

By most people's standards, Jeff led a normal life before 1965: he enlisted in the Navy, where he served aboard the aircraft carrier U.S. Shangri-la, but never went to sea; he had a wife, two children and a secure job as a mechanic at the Mississippi Test Facility, now Stennis Space Center. But that all changed overnight when a personal tragedy, the kind to which no one is immune, took it all from him.

Emergency surgery to correct an aneurysm in his brain saved his life, but left him in a coma for five years.

"I can remember things before 1965, but I lost all my education and my trade. My daughter was born in '65 and I didn't see her until 1970. I didn't even know who she was," he said.

Looking the part of a proud father, he pulled photographs from his billfold and began talking about his children and grandchildren.

Pointing to a picture of a dark-haired young woman holding a baby he said "That is my daughter, Tammy—I can't remember her married name—and that is Shawn, one of my grandsons."

"That's Tammy and my son Timothy. Timothy's a couple years older than my daughter," he said showing another photo. "They both live in Bogalusa, but they come to see me sometimes."

Jeff's reputation for knowing the news, sometimes seemingly before anyone else, including the newspaper, came about because he loves talking to people.

"I just talk to people and they tell me what's happening. Some of them know what they are talking about, some don't. Some people deliberately tell me things that aren't true just to get me to carry bad news," he said, "I don't talk to them anymore."

Like a postman making his appointed rounds, Jeff covers a lot of territory in a typical day.

"I don't do nothing, just hitchhike and talk, I just go from shopping center to shopping center to find people to talk to. I go from Bay St. Louis to our Shopping Center (in Waveland) and hit all the shopping centers on the way back."

But, in his pursuit of news and people to talk to, he doesn't limit himself to the Bay-Waveland area.

"I sometimes hitchhike to Gulfport; I know some people over there. I don't know them by name, but I know them. But I only go to Gulfport if I have money for the bus back."

"Every day is the same for me," he said, "but I like Sunday better than other days because I go playing bingo. I love to play bingo. I enjoy any form of gambling. I used to live at the horse track."

Unlike now, living on small Social Security and VA checks, in those days, he said, he and his father ran a fireworks import business and he could better afford that extravagance.

"We would import them at 47 cents a bundle and sell them for $4. I was making money hand over foot on those things."

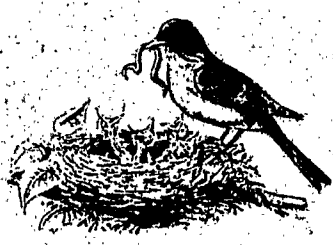

As means of satisfying his gambling yen, he ends his busy day of meeting people and spreading the news with a safe, relaxing game of chance.

"I play solitaire every night before I go to bed," he confesses.

In his daily rounds, Jeff has contact with a large portion of Hancock County's people and considers many of them his good friends.

"People always treat me right," he said.

BACK TO NATURE

Snags—Dead trees—Natural resources

Imagine this on a science test. The question is: (The above items are) a) all different; b) the same thing; c) very important to all living things; d) none of the above.

What would your answer be? There are actually two correct answers. (None can be more right than another.) I'd have to say (c). When you could follow with (b) because snags, dead trees, and natural resources are one and the same.

You ask how can an ugly dead tree be a natural resource? Let me explain.

A storm comes. Lightning flashes and strikes a tree outside your living room window. Lancing off the top of the tree. You are naturally upset, and your first impulse, after you recover from your sense of the loss of the tree, is to cut the remaining trunk and clean your yard. But the days go by, you're busy, and you just don't get around to it.

At the time that lightning struck that healthy tree, the trunk was moist. Some insects would get into it, but its strength did not allow them to do much damage. But it is a moist trunk, and it is a healthy tree, and it will start to dry out. Now it becomes a host to many insects, ants and other detritivores for birds.

The first noticeable thing you might see on the trunk is a hole. A hole in your yard, from six inches in length to 16 inches. They could be a hole in a tree, or a hole in the ground. They could be a hole in the ground, or a hole in the tree. They could be a hole in the ground, or a hole in the tree. They could be a hole in the ground, or a hole in the tree.

Consider space and light before choosing plants

By Dr. Milo Burnham
Horticulturist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

It won't be long until outdoor activities will be moved inside along with houseplants that have spent the summer in shady places such as flower beds, decks or patios. This is also the time when many new houseplants are acquired legally or illegally.

The word has already gone out in the Starkville area to either remove ferns and other plants from easily accessible locations such as porches or risk losing them to late night raiders looking for apartment decoration.

The Mississippi State University Horticulture Club has already held its fall plant sale, and I suspect the Florida trucks loaded with potted, tropical foliage plants will soon appear in parking lots and high traffic areas around the state.

There are many different plants to choose among when looking for something to decorate the home, apartment or dorm room. When selecting a plant, one very important item to consider is the amount of light available in the location where the plant is expected to grow. Foliage plants do not grow successfully in dark locations, and plants expected to flower require relatively high light intensities.

Some plants looking for relatively low light conditions such as northern oriented windows are Chinese Evergreen, Cast Iron Plant, Bamboo Palm, green Philodendrons (the red-leaved types require more light), Mother-in-Law's Tongue and Pothos. In low light areas shadow is barely visible and has no outline. Such areas are found away from east, west and south facing windows and under fluorescent lighting.

Popular plants such as Schefflera, Spider or Airplane Plant, Jade Plant, Dracaena and Corn Plant, Dumb Cane or Dieffenbachia and Rubber Tree all require considerably more light such as would be received in an east or west facing window. There should be enough light to read by without artificial light and there should be definite shadows but with fuzzy outlines.

Plants requiring higher light intensities such as available in a south facing window are Zebra Plant, Pony Tail Plant, Croton, Crown-of-Thorns, Weeping Fig, Norfolk Island Pine and Cacti. Most of the plants tolerant of medium light levels grow better in high light.

Weeping Fig is one of the most popular and widely available indoor green plants. This is probably because it is easy to propagate and grows rapidly into a tree form in Florida, the main production area.

This plant responds rapidly to changes in its growing conditions by dropping its leaves, and in just a couple of weeks, a beautiful plant can become just a few bare stems and branches. The two biggest problems with Weeping Fig are placement where the plant doesn't receive enough light and too dry an atmosphere.

All indoor plants should be in containers with a hole in the bottom to provide drainage for water. Believe it or not, over-watering probably kills more indoor plants than any other single cause.

Plants growing in plastic pots do not dry as rapidly as plants in clay pots and therefore require less water. All plant pots must have a saucer beneath them to catch the excess water to prevent damage to carpets, floors and furniture.

Plants tolerant of relatively dry soils are Pony Tail Palm, Cacti, succulents such as Jade Plant and Sedum, and Snake Plant also known as Mother-in-Law's Tongue. Plants less tolerant of dry soils are Chinese Evergreen, Norfolk Island Pine, Croton Plant, Schefflera, Spider Plant, Dracaena, Weeping Fig, Rubber Tree, Palm and Philodendrons. Most ferns require that the soil be kept moist, but not soggy.

Fertilizing indoor plants is a tricky affair and the best way to deal with this situation is to be very cautious. Since most indoor growing conditions are not ideal for plants, the less growth (or plant vigor) the better. When light is abundant, which is rarely the case now, growth is likely to be rapid and unattractive. Therefore, fertilizers should be used sparingly that can include new growth.

Effective parenting courses taught in Pass public schools

Improving parent-child relationships will be the focus of a series of discussion sessions for parents of Pass Christian school students at North Street Elementary School and DeLisle Elementary School.

The program is being sponsored by the Pass Christian school system as part of their Drug Free Schools Program, according to Molly Bowles, school counselor. The discussions will be based on Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP), the most widely used parenting education program in the country. More than one million people throughout the United States, Canada and other countries have participated in STEP discussion groups and used the accompanying Parent's Handbook since American Guidance Service (AGS) of Circle Pines, Minn. introduced the program in 1976.

STEP encourages mutual respect between parent and child, increased cooperation, more effective communication and a more responsible, self-reliant attitude among children.

Our community's interest in parenting education is part of a nationwide trend. A recent nationwide survey conducted by AGS showed that parenting education is a growing phenomenon, sponsored by hundreds of diverse groups and organizations and conducted by thousands of individuals throughout the country. The trend in parenting education is a result of many social changes in the U.S. These include changing roles for mothers, a shift away from the autocratic 'Father Knows Best' value system to a more democratic viewpoint, and the increasing mobility of families.

The survey showed that very diverse organizations sponsor STEP groups: schools, religious groups, community centers, social service agencies, mental health centers, hospitals, individuals, and state and local government agencies.

Of the 1,300 STEP leaders who responded to the survey, 88 percent said they received positive feedback from parents about the program; only 2 percent reported any negative feedback.

Some STEP leaders spoke of networks of parents that had grown up locally around the program. Others said that STEP enabled parents to "learn new ways to handle persistent problems...to get in touch with their feelings and their child's," and to overcome a sense of guilt and develop a sense of confidence and self-esteem.

STEP was also credited for improving participants' relationships with other people, including husbands and wives, employers and employees. Benefits cited for children included the opportunity for children to take more responsibility for their own behavior, a calmer, more relaxing environment in which to develop emotionally, and less spanking and parent 'snooper-vision.'

Crosby Arboretum to sponsor professional storyteller Shivers

The Crosby Arboretum, Picayune, will present professional storyteller Nell Shivers Saturday, Oct. 15, 1-3 p.m. at the Pinecote Pavilion.

A native Mississippian, Shivers grew up immersed in oral traditions that were much appreciated by her family. As a professional storyteller, Shivers has traveled the Southeast telling tales of humor, ghosts, morality, and traditional fairy and folk tales.

As an educator, she has taught at both the elementary school and college levels. She is presently teaching psychology in Jackson. For her presentation at Pinecote, Nell Shivers will relate Mississippi stories of nature and natural events as well as family stories. Storytelling is an art that may be appreciated by the entire family. The program is offered free of charge to members of the arboretum. A donation of $2 for adults, $1 for children under 12, and $5 for families is requested of those who are not members. The public is invited to attend.

The project is supported in part by a grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Microsurgery on lumbar discs 'same day' for some at SMH

For more than 50 years, patients suffering back problems such as herniated lumbar discs faced an open surgical procedure, general anesthesia, and, generally, a one-week recovery stay in the hospital.

These days are over for many people with back problems, as a new approach to lumbar disc removal proves more and more acceptable to physician and patient alike.

Percutaneous Nucleotomy involves the insertion of a microsurgical instrument, which enables the physician to search out and repair damaged discs through an approximate 2mm (one-eighth inch) incision. Only local anesthesia is necessary for the procedure, which is performed on a same-day surgery basis.

According to Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center

Staff Nurse Ricky Stevens, RN, "You're in the hospital a shorter period of time plus, more than likely, you face a shorter recovery period at home."

Research on this surgical approach was begun in 1984 and received approval by the Federal Drug Administration in 1986. Dr. Charles Krieger, orthopedic surgeon, is responsible for bringing the new technique to Slidell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Krieger has performed approximately a half-dozen of these procedures at Slidell Memorial Hospital during the past few months and has been pleased with its success rate. "It's definitely a consideration for anyone needing a back operation," said Dr. Krieger.

Not all people qualify for the Percutaneous Nucleotomy approach, Dr. Krieger noted.

One contraindication example involves patients who show evidence of a fragment that has migrated out of the spinal canal.

For those who do qualify, however, Percutaneous Nucleotomy can sometimes mean immediate relief. "Some patients experience immediate relief, before they even get off the table," said Stevens.

The use of local rather than general anesthesia is also considered a great benefit of this technique, especially to those patients who have pre-existing medical conditions such as a weak heart. Stevens added that the lessened anesthesia also means savings for the patient. "The drugs alone would probably cost as much as the (Percutaneous Nucleotomy) kit," said Stevens.

HMC nurses recertified in life-saving

Several Hancock Medical Center registered nurses were recently recertified in ACLS (Advanced Cardiac Life Support) techniques during a two-day workshop in New Orleans.

The following HMC nurses received ACLS certification: Carolyn Marshall, Susan Caron, Pat Kendrick, Margo Keel, Shaula Fussell, Ann McKenzie and Virginia Kenny. Emergency Room supervisor Sandy Jones was certified as an ACLS instructor.

ACLS training provides healthcare professionals with advanced skills in dealing with trauma and cardiac patients. The faster response in an emergency situation results in increased survival rates, according to the American Heart Association.

ACLS recertification is required every two years. Most of the nurses at Hancock Medical Center are ACLS certified, according to Phil Wolfe, HMC administrator.

Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus to appear in Gulfport

The World's Largest Circus under the Big Top has scheduled a two-day engagement in Gulfport. Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus will present a total of four performances at the Robert L. Rice Pavilion on Hwy. 90.

Performances will commence at 4:30 and 8 p.m. daily on Wednesday, Oct. 12 and Thursday, Oct. 13.

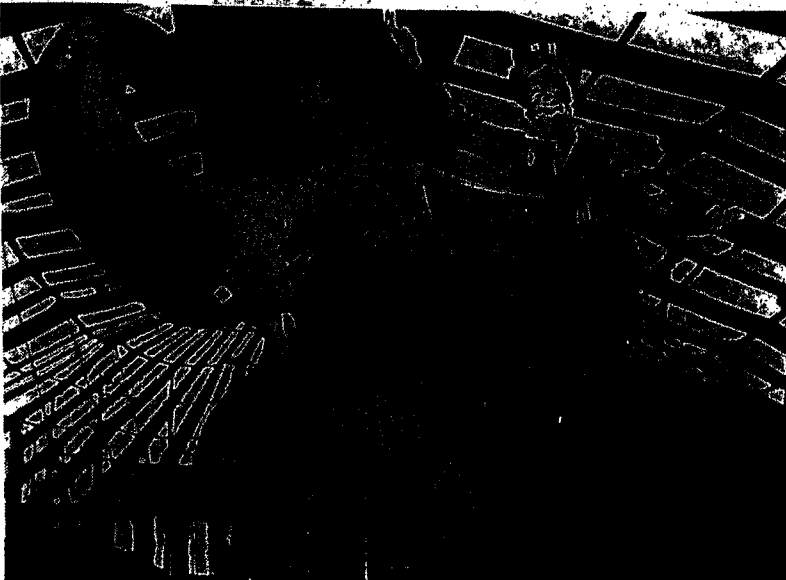

A cast of more than 100 performers and animals from five continents have been assembled to present the spectacular 1988 edition of America's favorite Big Top Circus. Jugglers, gymnasts, high-flying daredevils, a cavalcade of clowns, clever canines, lithe and lively young acrobats and the biggest circus line on the planet, the Beatty-Cole herd of performing pachyderms participate in a performance guaranteed to delight children of all ages.

Special features this year include the Beatty-Cole liberty horses, an octet of perfectly matched chestnut Arabians trained and presented by the esteemed Col. E. J. Bale, the Wee-Gats, a troupe of siblings whose acrobatic feats rival and even surpass the prowess of Olympic competitors, the Mogo-dor Duo, an amazing aerial team who astound all with their grace, skill, strength and daring high above the hippodrome track, and the most highly acclaimed animal trainer in the world, the illustrious Josip Miran, who presents Bone Shakers and his unique special effects, and proves his special ability to communicate with animals on the respect of the animal kingdom. Glitter, humor, thrills and other exciting things will appear in the Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus. Don't miss the big top and no matter what you are, you can be a part of the circus.

TWO SYMBOLS OF THE CIRCUS—According to P.T. Barnum, no show could call itself a 'circus' without elephants and clowns. Taking its cue from the great showman, Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus is coming to town with a plethora of pachyderms and a gaggle of gagsters to delight children of all ages in Gulfport at the Rice Pavilion Oct. 12-13.

LOCAL BRIEF

SAUCIER REUNION

USM urged to expand Gulf Coast offerings

A private consulting firm has recommended the University of Southern Mississippi intensify and expand its ongoing effort to more fully satisfy the higher education needs of Mississippi Gulf Coast residents and employers.

"We encourage the leadership of the university and of the region to work together in developing an aggressive plan to provide a more complete range of higher education services for the Mississippi Gulf Coast," MGT of America Inc. concluded in a report made public Wednesday, Sept. 21.

USM President Dr. Aubrey K. Lucas and Dr. Karen Yarbrough, vice president of research and extended services, announced last April 4 the Tallahassee, Fla.-based consulting firm had been hired to conduct an extensive survey to more sharply assess the educational needs of some 300,000 residents of a six-county area of the Gulf Coast.

Yarbrough said a decision to conduct the needs assessment stemmed from the university's ongoing "self-examination of all our programs," and from a current emphasis by governmental leaders on seeking ways to improve state economic development.

MGT said its five-month survey of the "economic, demographic and educational characteristics indicate that the region has tremendous potential for postsecondary education.

"Based on this finding, we feel there exists ample room for both the state and USM to expand the higher education opportunities currently in place on the Gulf Coast," the firm said in a report distributed to the news media during a breakfast session involving Gulf Coast community leaders.

MGT noted the six counties covered in the survey—Harrison, Jackson, Hancock, Stone, Pearl River and George—contain "15 percent of Mississippi's population, "16 percent" of the state's college-aged population and "is growing twice as fast as the rest of the state."

The report also pointed out, however, the Gulf Coast region's "college participation rate trails the state's by nearly 10 percent; the region's exodus of students is higher than the rest of the state;" and USM's three coastal campuses at Long Beach, Gautier and Keesler Air Force Base were not comparable to their "parent in terms of staffing, program availability or funding."

MGT said there were a number of "key strengths" justifying expansion of USM educational offerings in the Gulf Coast area, including: strong and growing regional economy; area leaders supportive of more higher educational services; and a high regard for the "course offerings, quality of faculty, support services and resources."

Other pluses cited in the report included: strong interest among local residents for additional college coursework offerings; a general preference of area students to stay close to home while continuing their education; and requests by business and civic leaders for offerings and programs that would complement area resources for such industries as fishing; hospitality/tourism; shipping/transportation and cargo; oceanographic and marine research; technical engineering; and computer science.

"USM already has strength in many of these fields that could be extended" to the university's Gulf Coast centers, the report stated.

MGT said "obstacles" standing in the way of a further development of higher education services on the Gulf Coast included: current state laws and policies that restrict the ability of USM to expand its offerings; a "lower than average participation" by Gulf Coast young adults in the state's higher education system; USM's current inability to offer daytime classes; and lack of public visibility for the USM programs and services now operating in the area.

The private firm concluded, however, that existing USM strengths "should provide a foundation for educational growth and expansion on the Coast."

Carver granddaughter is honor graduate

Laura Bosch, honor graduate of McDonogh #35 High School in New Orleans, is currently attending Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

LAURA BOSCH

She is the recipient of two scholarships, including one from the LSU Alumni Federation through the New Orleans Public School Board.

Bosch is the daughter of Rosa Lee Carver Bosch of New Orleans and the late Clifton Bosch, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Ernest Carver of Waveland and the late Mr. Carver.

Upon graduation, she received the Superintendent's Academic Excellence Award; salutatorian honors; Regents' Scholar and CTBS Achiever; academic fitness award; Sigma Gamma Rho top achiever's award; and was named "Who's Who Among High School Students"; in addition to several other honors.

She is an accounting major at LSU.
